

Leah Borrello
Chief Financial Officer
Victory Packaging, L.P.

Leah Borrello, a native Texan, moved to Houston in 1976. She is a graduate of Houston Baptist University, where she majored in Accounting and Finance. After completing her degree, Leah began her career in public accounting with the Houston office of Arthur Andersen in the oil and gas audit practice area. In addition to being a CPA since 1990, she has also earned her Professional in Human Resources designation from the HR Certification Institute. She has held various Financial and Human Resource executive positions in the healthcare, web hosting and consulting industries.

Leah currently serves as the Chief Financial Officer of Victory Packaging, the leading North American full-service packaging solutions provider offering packaging design and creation, logistics and asset management. With over thirty years of success in the packaging services and distribution industry, Victory Packaging's customized solutions result in significant cost savings, continuous improvement opportunities and improved cash position for its customers. Victory Packaging has over 60 North American locations, 5 million square feet of warehouse space, and approximately 1,400 employees.

Leah resides in Tomball, Texas, and is the mother of four children ranging in age from 8 to 22. Her hobbies include horseback riding and ranching. She is also passionate about the sport of swimming, and enjoys officiating at USA Swimming meets.