

Karla R. Pierson
Performance Management Consultant

With over 17 years of business consulting and executive coaching experience, Karla has partnered with corporate executives and business leaders of Fortune 500 and Global 1000 companies to produce breakthrough levels of performance. She has a strong background in team performance, business transformation, business development, process redesign, strategy and talent development. Karla is experienced in supporting successful project execution utilizing her strong project management and people skills.

She is recognized for her proven ability in partnering with executive leaders and business owners to develop and implement high impact business initiatives that exceed current performance expectations. She has worked with clients such as ExxonMobil, Schlumberger, Johnson and Johnson, Diageo, Food Lion, Owens Corning, Astra Zeneca and HCA.

As a Senior Consultant for Sunergos, Karla's current role include:

- Providing performance consulting to support leaders of multi-billion dollar engineering, healthcare and construction projects to fulfill on their most critical strategic initiatives.
- Leading alignment sessions and other transformational sessions pulling together diverse groups to achieve breakthrough results.
- Guiding and supporting teams, departments and organizations to create powerful visions and facilitate authentic engagement to bring those visions to life.
- Coaching executives one-on-one to increase their leadership impact and the performance of their teams.

Karla earned a Bachelor of Arts in Biology from the University of Texas, and a Masters in Healthcare Administration/MBA from the University of Houston Clear Lake.

Contact Karla: kpierson@sunergosllc.com